Doesn't time fly in soaps? It doesn't seem five minutes ago that Richard Blackwood arrived as Vincent Hubbard. I remember the poor lad had the unenviable task of doing his first scene live during the show's 30th birthday celebrations – talk about adding pressure! We've seen Vincent through the tortured affair

"Doesn't time fly in soapland?"

with Ronnie Mitchell and the shocking death of Fatboy (I still believe old Fats is out there somewhere, waiting to return and make Dot's day!). But I've enjoyed the henpecked Vincent, constantly trying to hold back Kim's bling-encrusted delusions of grandeur – and normally failing. Tameka Empson (Kim) and Richard have been one of our favourite soap couples of recent times, and Richard pays tribute to his co-star – while looking back at his time on the soap and giving us hints as to the nature of his goodbye – in his farewell interview on p38.

Carla is left with egg on her face when the truth comes out in a very public way

There's hell to pay for Carla this week, after Michelle stumbles upon the truth about her best mate's latest fella – it's her estranged son Ali!

Michelle is shattered when she realises Carla is having it away with her son, who recently returned to the cobbles. Although Carla tries to explain herself, her pal is having none of it – so could Carla's lust end up destroying her closest friendship?

"Michelle and Carla are like sisters, so this couldn't be any worse!" groans Alison King, who plays the conflicted cougar. "From Carla's point of view, Ali is a grown-up man now – he's fit, she's a red-blooded girl, so she gave in while it was on offer! She tried to pull back after the repercussions of her actions sank in and she considered the fact that Michelle could find out and be hurt, but Carla really likes Ali."

"Michelle doesn't give Carla a chance – that's them done"

Although Michelle's fiancé Robert had an inkling of what was going on, Michelle dismissed his suggestion that Ali fancied Carla as nonsense. However, when Michelle decides to host a big Connor family dinner and invites them both, it's the catalyst for calamity. With the truth staring her in the face, livid Michelle sends everyone home except Carla, and demands answers. It's a horrible moment for both women...

"Michelle is shocked and hurt," sighs Alison. "She wants to know what's going on between them, and whether it's gone further. She doesn't give Carla much chance to explain – though there's not a lot Carla can say apart from sorry! In Michelle's mind, that's them done because Carla has hurt her so much."

Carla has no comeback as she realises that this could be fatal for their relationship. And worse still, loved-up Ali is pushing for more with Carla.

INSIDE SCOOP

"Ali wants to take their relationship further, but all this makes Carla pull back," Alison tells us. "There isn't actually anything going on – they only slept together that one time, and her relationship with Michelle is more important to her than a relationship with him."

Sadly, this isn't the only secret being kept by Michelle's loved ones. Carla has unearthed the truth about Michelle's fiancé Robert's steroid abuse, and when she sees her in the street and gets another earful, Carla spills the beans. She's worried that Michelle could get seriously hurt by Robert – she's already noticed bruises on her wrists that Michelle put down to the throes of passion – and has consulted junior doctor Ali about the health risks involved in steroid abuse.

"At first Michelle doesn't believe Carla, but then she asks her how long she's known, and Carla tells her the truth and asks her to talk to Robert," shares Alison. "Carla doesn't believe the bruises are as innocent as they might seem, and she's more bothered about Michelle than beating herself up over Ali. She loves Michelle so much that she can put everything between them aside to do the right thing and tell her about Robert."

The fitness-fanatic chef has a lot of explaining to do, and Michelle wants answers. It's another blow to her wedding plans – and with the big day approaching, the unhappy bride-to-be has some decisions to make.

"Michelle tells Carla that she's not invited to her wedding – it's for friends and close family only!" grimaces Alison. "Hopefully Carla will put out her bottom lip and say 'Sorry' and 'I miss you' enough times that Michelle will forgive her. How long that might take, I don't know. I want them to get back on track, because I would miss working with Kym [Marsh, aka Michelle]. I really hope they won't keep us apart for too long!"

Kate White

"Carla needs a rugged man!"

Will she be revisiting former passion with Peter?

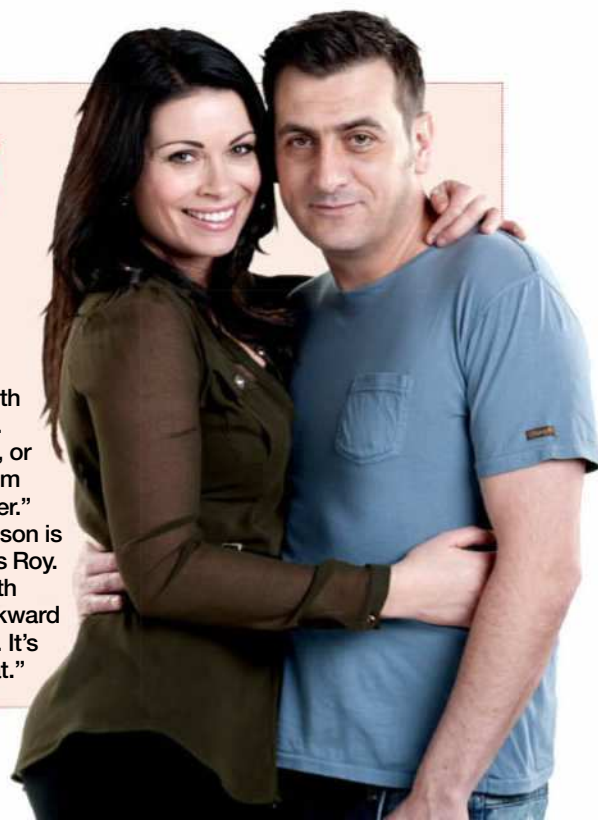

Carla is discovering that handsome Ali could be more trouble than he's worth, but Ms Connor does like to have a man in her life! Viewers were intrigued by a couple of cosy scenes between her and her ex Peter recently – and it's something Alison herself has noted...

"I think the Peter-Carla-Toyah angle is very interesting – there's definitely unfinished business, and their chemistry is undeniable," muses the actress of her alter ego's car-crash bond with Peter. "She needs a rugged man. Perhaps Nick should come back, or maybe [it could be] Imran – but I'm not sure he's rough enough for her."

However, if there's one man Alison is certain she wants in Carla's life, it's Roy.

"I adore Carla's relationship with him," says the star. "I like the awkward dynamic in the house they share. It's really growing, and I'm loving that."

Liv's new solicitor throws a spanner in the works

EMMERDALE | ITV MONDAY

Liv & Gabby in the dock!

WILL THE TROUBLED TEENS ESCAPE PRISON?

Terrified Liv faces the consequences of spiking Lisa's drink with ketamine this week, as she and her co-conspirator Gabby stand trial.

Despite attempts by the Dingles – including Lisa – to stop the prosecution going ahead, the CPS won't let the matter drop, and the girls must appear in court. Having both admitted their part in the near-fatal incident, they know that there will be punishment for the crime, and both families are frightened that they'll be sent down. Worse still, at the last minute, Liv's solicitor is replaced and everything changes – including Lisa's plan to speak up for her.

"Lisa wanted to explain to the court that Liv's a good girl, really," explains Jane Cox, who plays the Dingle matriarch. "She wanted this lass to learn the lesson that she could have killed someone, but perhaps going to court is too far."

Sadly for the Dingles, when Liv's new brief arrives, he immediately bans Lisa from giving a witness statement – even if it is to defend his client. Meanwhile, Aaron worries as he spots that the lawyer isn't up to speed on the details of his sister's case – and as the court convenes, it's tense for all concerned.

"Aaron had agreed to Lisa helping out, but the lawyer says she shouldn't," shares Jane. "Lisa feels so sorry for Liv now – she thinks that she's a sad girl and was probably distracted by Gabby."

It's certainly true that Gabby instigated it all, but she gives a good account of herself in court. Both she and her lawyer make emotional speeches to convince the judge to be lenient with the defendants. However, things don't go so well for Liv – she's traumatised, and can't find her voice when it's time for her to speak up.

The outcome of the trial is being kept secret, though Jane says it was great to work with co-star Isobel Steele – who plays Liv – on these scenes.

"Isobel is a wonderful actor and a professional person," she enthuses. "She pulls on your heart strings – and it's hard not to cry when she's crying!"

JANE COX REVEALS THE FALLOUT FROM LIV'S TRIAL...

Lisa's decision to call the police on Liv has sent shock waves through the Dingle family – and in the aftermath of the trial, things reach crisis point between her and Zak...

Hi, Jane. How bad is it between Zak and Lisa?

He can't bear to look at her! Zak completely agrees with the rest of the family that she's not fit to be a Dingle any more. As you can imagine, Lisa is heartbroken and isolated.

What happens when the pair return home after the verdict has been delivered?

Zak doesn't really talk to Lisa on the way back, but when they get home, he turns on her! He's completely horrible and goes off – despite the fact that Lisa is recovering from a heart attack.

After their massive row, Lisa begins to feel ill again, doesn't she?

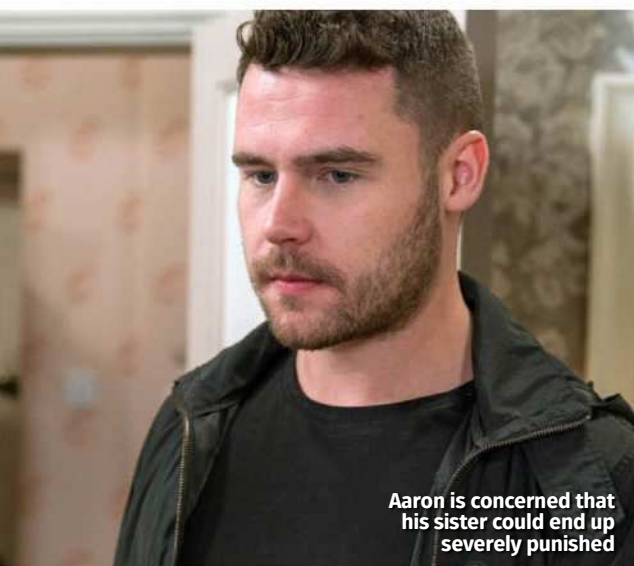

Yes, she sits down and then keels over – Lisa thinks the end is nigh. Thankfully, Belle comes in and gets her mum to the hospital. Lisa thinks that it's another heart attack, but the doctor tells her it's angina. He warns her that she needs to avoid high stress levels, though, as another heart attack could kill her!

This warning prompts Lisa to make a huge decision that will change the Dingle family forever...

I think it's the only decision she can really make to get better. Can her and Zak's relationship survive? What's happened with Liv has created a rift between them, so who knows if they will be able to stick together!

Michelle accused of seducing Hunter!

MICHELLE FINDS HERSELF IN ANOTHER TEEN SEX SCANDAL...

There's big trouble for Michelle this week – when Mel accuses her of trying to seduce her son Hunter!

Accusations fly after the shamed teacher arrives to begin her tutoring gig with the bad boy, only to discover him half-dressed and in the midst of a passionate encounter with Louise. Although Michelle reluctantly agrees to keep what she's seen a secret – Louise having begged her to stay shtum – that doesn't stop everything kicking off as twisted Hunter insists she attempted to kiss him!

“Being accused of molesting another student is Michelle's worst nightmare,” sighs our Walford snitch. “Her affair with schoolboy Preston cost Michelle everything, including her marriage and her career. It's taken a long time for her to rebuild her life and regain the trust of those around her. By telling these lies, Hunter could destroy all of that.”

It's deeply embarrassing for Michelle when she catches Hunter and Louise in a compromising position. It also puts her in a moral quandary, as her best friend Sharon is Louise's stepmum. Rather than tell everyone what they've been up to,

Michelle elects to distance herself from the situation, and explains to Mel that she can't tutor her son.

However, even as she neglects to give Mel all the facts, Hunter sees a way to create more trouble between his family and the Mitchells. Michelle is knocked for six after Mel confronts her in a rage and accuses her of trying to kiss the twisted teenager. It doesn't matter how much Michelle protests, Mel believes Hunter – and she's not the only one.

“Sharon can't in all conscience say she's behind Michelle”

WHY THE NEW MICHELLE DIDN'T PAY OFF

Inside Soap wades in on the debate...

Michelle Fowler is poised to say goodbye to Albert Square, as actress Jenna Russell heads off to pastures new. So why didn't this classic character comeback work?

It certainly wasn't the fault of Jenna, a superb actress who did her best to breathe new life into one of EastEnders' most iconic characters. It's not really due to the decision to recast Michelle, after original star Susan Tully refused repeated offers to return to the role that made her famous. No, instead the problem was the stories.

We've always loved Michelle's relationship with Sharon, and the old magic was still there. On paper, the Preston affair story must have looked like a clever subversion of the underage sex plot between Michelle and Dirty Den – but it changed how the audience felt about her. It was too hard to root for Michelle now that she was a predator, and subsequent nights with her and Sharon cackling over a bottle of vino were spoiled.

The best potential plot – the 25-year-old secret of Mark Fowler Jnr's paternity – had been wasted the year before for Grant's return, with Michelle not featuring at all. That felt bungled after years of build-up. We never saw Michelle with Mark, nor did we meet her husband. Meanwhile, the plot with Tom the stalker dragged on forever before fizzling out in five minutes.

So Jenna was great, but the Michelle we knew and loved wasn't there. Perhaps resting her for a while is the answer, before bringing her back with the cracking story this character deserves.

"Sharon is Michelle's truest friend, but when she hears Hunter's story, she's inclined to believe him," says our snoop. "Michelle has a history of doing this, and her affair with Preston outraged everyone, even those who love her. Because of what happened in the past, Sharon can't in all conscience say she's 100 per cent behind Michelle. That's utterly heartbreaking."

With her reputation on the line again, will Michelle reveal the truth about Hunter? Meanwhile, Sharon's reaction has hit her hard – so, backed into a corner, will the usually feisty Michelle come out fighting, or will this prove one setback too many?

PAT PHELAN? NEVER HEARD OF HIM!

The bad boy hides out in secret, plotting his revenge...

Here's your first glimpse at what's to come for Weatherfield's most wanted man, as escaped murderer Pat Phelan takes refuge in a caravan – and plans his next move!

Our sneaky snaps depict star Connor McIntyre filming on location in Lancashire, sporting a beard and glasses in scenes that show Phelan attempting to disguise himself. However, judging by the arrival of one of his many enemies from the Street, Gary Windass, it won't be long before his sordid past catches up with him...

"Phelan is not the sort of villain to return home all guns blazing," reckons our Corrie snitch. "He'll be meticulously plotting his revenge right down to the last excruciating detail, ensuring no stone is left unturned. He hasn't come this far to make a silly mistake and be snared by the police."

Phelan has had the luck of the devil when it comes to evading justice, but his fortunes aren't what they once were. After Eileen sent him crashing into the sea, Phelan emerged with a nasty gash to his leg – an injury that he's since stitched up himself.

SINKING FEELING!

After confessing the truth of his killing spree to Gail, Hillman kidnapped the family and drove them into the canal. "THIS IS IT!" he yelled, as the car plunged into the murky water.

CRASH & BURN!

Dev's doolally ex framed his true love Sunita for bigamy – then set fire to several of Dev's shops before abducting him and Sunita, and trying to run them both down in her car!

BLAZE OF GLORY!

Terrible Tony did the decent thing and handed himself in for arranging Liam Connor's murder. But prison life proved very dull – so Tony escaped and started a blaze at Underworld.

But as the wounded brute tends to his wound in the caravan, is he as agile as he once was? Will it slow him down as he puts his hideous machinations into action?

The odds don't appear to be in Phelan's favour when former soldier Gary and his capable-looking accomplice arrive at the caravan site. Have they received news of a man fitting nasty Phelan's description, and come to see for themselves? Or will crafty Phelan somehow manage to throw them off the scent before making his inevitable return to the cobbles?

DAVID RUNS OUT... AS SHONA FINDS OUT?

The latest twists in his rape trauma!

Troubled David looks set to face the consequences of his violent actions, with new pictures suggesting that he'll end up in court following his attack on Gary.

Our Corrie spies spotted actor Jack P Shepherd filming with co-star Charlie De Melo, who plays solicitor Imran. Rumour has it that David will be forced to stand before a magistrate in the wake of his violent assault in the boxing ring. However, it doesn't seem he's planning to stick around for the verdict, as David appears to flee from a car – with Imran giving chase!

"David has form when it comes to hitting the self-destruct button," sighs our cobbles spy. "It's just like him to make a situation 10 times worse."

Of course, David has every reason to be acting so out of character. He was raped by vile Josh, and has been too ashamed to tell anyone. But does his ex-partner Shona hold the key to helping him?

Reports indicate that David's former flame will go digging into Josh's past before tracking down another fella who may have been assaulted by the mechanic. So will Shona find the evidence that can help David through his nightmare?

LITTLE MO FIGHTS BACK!

But is she planning a return to Albert Square?

EASTENDERS

The Slaters have never been ones to mince their words, so it comes as no surprise that ex-EastEnders actress Kacey Ainsworth – who played Little Mo – has been laying down the law in support of her pals in Walford.

Upon discovering that the soap isn't in contention for a BAFTA TV award this year, Kacey was quick to point out on social media what she thinks about the snub...

"No EastEnders on the BAFTA nominations?" the star wrote on Twitter. "In the past few months, EastEnders has gone back to its roots, with truly great characters, writers and actors, and it shows. This round of nominations was on the back of 2017. You wait for this year – EastEnders will be back."

Will Kacey be back as Little Mo too, though? Walford returnee Jessie Wallace, aka Kat, would love her screen sister to join the rest of the Slaters in the Square – and Kacey herself has never ruled out the possibility.

"The door is always open," she said previously. "I miss doing it every day, especially working on something where you know everyone from the crew to the tea lady."

Hmm... we live in hope!

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 THURSDAY

Peri's life on the streets!

THE SHOCKING TRUTH ABOUT THE TEENAGE RUNAWAY IS REVEALED IN A SPECIAL EPISODE...

The mystery of missing Peri Lomax is finally solved this week, in an instalment of Hollyoaks which covers everything that's been happening since she ran away from life in the village. Actress Ruby O'Donnell tells us what to expect from this very different episode...

"We cover 71 days of Peri's time on the streets," shares the star. "It runs from the moment she leaves the village right up to today. All I can say is that in this episode, everything's going to be explained."

Viewers have only been afforded brief glimpses of Peri in recent months, including visits to her comatose aunt Tegan, but this time – via flashback – we'll see what happened to her before and after those sporadic visits.

While it all starts comfortably enough in a hotel, Peri's money quickly runs out and she's turned out on her ear. One night in homeless accommodation leads her to begging – and Peri makes a friend in Dean, who introduces her to Harley (see box). That's when the story catches up with recent events in the village, and her family get involved.

"Obviously with all that's been on screen, people are wondering what's been going on and why Peri is in the state she's in," says Ruby. "So throughout the episode, everything will become clear."

Hollyoaks has been working closely with homeless charities to make sure that Peri's experiences on the street

"We cover 71 days of Peri on the streets – it explains everything"

People have to band together on the streets just to survive

Ruby is justifiably proud of her character's latest storyline, and knows it's a highly relevant issue in modern society.

"Hands down, this has been one of my most challenging plots," she shares. "I think it's because this is important."

Whether or not Peri makes it back to the village and normal family life is being kept under wraps for now. However, there's little doubt that she's been changed by an experience no one should have to face...

Michael Cregan

Peri is forced to live by her wits without a roof over her head accurately reflect the reality of her plight. The harsh situation was certainly brought home to the cast and crew as they worked on freezing cold location shoots across the city.

"We were on roads and on corners, and it was hard," shivers Ruby. "But I think it helped me get into character."

While it was tough, it added a lot of drama to the scenes. We also talked to staff who work at The Whitechapel Centre [a Liverpool-based homeless charity], as well as some of the people who use the service."

WHO IS HARLEY?

Leela gets a surprise visitor this week in the shape of Harley, who claims to know where Peri has gone. Does she really know the truth, or is she just after the £5,000 reward? Either way, it's not long before Leela offers Harley some food and a place to stay – but Ruby teases that there's more to Peri's mate...

"Peri meets her on the streets, and Harley is very defensive because of her life story, which you'll find more about in the episode," reveals the star. "As to whether a [genuine] friendship develops or not, though, you'll have to watch to find out!"

Kat's kiddie mystery!

AS SHE COOS OVER LITTLE HARLEY, WHERE ARE HER OWN BUNDLES OF JOY?

The questions surrounding Kat intensify this week, as Stacey and Mo conspire to find out what's really going on with her.

Ever since Kat returned to Albert Square a few weeks ago, the mysteries have been mounting.

Where are Alfie and their three children? What really happened in Spain? And why is Kat so reluctant to talk about any of it?

Things start to look even more dubious when Kat bumps into Masood's Uncle Arshad, who is walking with baby Harley in the Square.

"Spotting little Harley brings out Kat's maternal instincts," our Walford mole tells us. "He's such a cutie that Kat can't help but stop and gawp at him. She starts to fondly talk about her own children, and it's perfectly clear how much she's missing them all."

The exchange is spotted by eagle-eyed Stacey, who instantly becomes suspicious. After all, why can't Kat just go and visit her kids if she's missing them so much?

"There's not an awful lot that gets past Stacey, and there's something about this whole situation that doesn't add up," reasons our snoop. "She starts to cross-examine Kat, who evasively fobs her off – but that just makes Stacey even more convinced that Kat has something to hide, and she's determined to find out what it is."

With no one else to turn to for help, Stacey is forced to speak to Mo about her concerns.

"Although

Mo is preoccupied with her own moneymaking schemes, even she is forced to admit there's something very odd about Kat's cagey behaviour," says our snitch.

"Stacey and Mo then cook up a plan to try to get Kat and her kids back together."

Stacey tries to get in touch with Alfie, to see if he can shed any light on the matter, but it transpires that Kat hasn't been in touch with her husband for weeks. Armed with this knowledge, Stacey goes back

"It's clear how much Kat is missing her children!"

Stacey and Kat end up having an almighty row

WHAT HAPPENED IN SPAIN?

Sadly, all the signs point to the breakdown of Kat and Alfie's marriage.

When she returned to Walford recently, Kat reluctantly admitted to Stacey that she and Alfie were taking a break, while stressing that it was a wonder they hadn't killed each other after all they've been through.

It wouldn't be the first time they've gone their separate ways – so why wouldn't Kat just come out and say that? Why would it stop her having contact with her kids? And what happened to all the money the Moons won? Apparently it's been spent, but could it really have been pumped into one small Spanish bar?

Perhaps Hayley is the key. When Kat came to blows with her, Hayley threatened to spill the beans on what happened in Spain – so it's clear there's something Kat is desperate to keep secret. Another affair? Has she done something with the rest of the lottery cash? Or could it be something involving the children?

With Alfie rumoured to be on his way home, Kat may be forced to fess up in the very near future...

to Kat – and this time she demands some answers.

"Stacey wants to know why Kat is ignoring Alfie, but of course this just makes Kat clam up even more," sighs our spy. "She quickly works out that Stacey has been trying to contact Alfie behind her back, and she flies off the handle. It's a classic Slater bust-up! So what is Kat hiding?"

Later on, once the pair have managed to calm down a bit, they have a heart-to-heart. Stacey's mind is then put at rest when she overhears Kat making plans to see the three children. But as Kat heads off to meet the kids, and calls Stacey to let her know that she's taking them to the cinema, is everything as it seems – or is it just another piece of subterfuge to throw Stacey off the scent?

Ross puts his son in danger!

WHEN THE DOCTOR REFUSES HIM MORE PAINKILLERS, ROSS IS DRIVEN TO DISTRACTION...

Ross' painkiller addiction comes at a terrible cost – and his little boy Moses could be the one to pay the price this week.

With his stress levels sky high as he battles to secure a fresh supply of pills from Dr Cavanagh, Ross takes his eye off the ball while looking after Moses. And the consequences could be catastrophic after the youngster gets his tiny hands on a packet of tablets...

"Will Ross spot what Moses is up to before the little lad shoves one of the pills in his mouth?" frets our Dales insider. "Ross is at his wits' end and desperate to dig his way out of this depression he's mired in – but the last thing he wants is for Moses to suffer. This perilous situation proves just how dangerous his position has become."

After stumbling across Ross' stash of pills, former addict

Moses knows not what he does – and Ross is responsible Rhona reckoned she might have persuaded him to see sense, and talk to Dr Cavanagh about his dependency on the painkillers prescribed in the aftermath of his acid attack. But of course, Ross isn't telling Rhona the truth – and when he sees the local GP again, he remains hell-bent on getting his hands on a new prescription.

"Ross is at his wits' end – the situation is a perilous one"

"Against her better judgement, Rhona hasn't told her boyfriend Pete about what's really going on with his brother," sighs our spy. "She really hoped that she'd managed to convince Ross to seek professional help for a nightmare that she's all too familiar with. She's relieved when he reassures her that he's done just that – but in reality, he's more desperate than ever to keep taking pills."

In fact, Ross can barely cope when Dr Cavanagh insists that his face is healing well and painkillers are no longer required. And while his dad is distracted by the quandary of how to keep feeding his habit, Moses gets hold of one of the few packets of pills left...

"Ross is a million miles away, locked in his own desperate thoughts, so he doesn't notice Moses rummaging through his things," explains our sneak. "Can Ross come to his senses before the worst happens? We can only hope that he does!"

Will this terrifying situation end up giving Ross the jolt he needs to kick his habit? Or will his addiction claim an innocent victim in little Moses?

Allison Jones

Is it swings and roundabouts or the final game for Moses?

Rhona knows Ross' secret, but can she make him see sense?

Eileen hasn't been able to rouse herself from her stupor

CORONATION STREET | ITV FRIDAY

Who's stalking Eileen?

A MYSTERY FIGURE IS DETERMINED TO MAKE HER SUFFER...

Terrified Eileen suffers fresh horror this week, after someone targets her with a vicious hate campaign!

As the Street reels from the news that Phelan was behind four deaths, poor Eileen is under fire from those who think she helped hide the truth about her husband's killing spree. It's just dirty looks and snide comments at first, but the situation takes a sinister turn when it becomes clear someone is out to get her...

"The poor woman is practically a prisoner in her own home as she hides from the outside world, ashamed that Phelan was able to get away with murder right under her nose," shares our Corrie source. "The last thing she needs after her ordeal at the lighthouse is to feel threatened again – yet Eileen's nightmare is only just beginning."

The news that the police won't be pursuing her as an accessory to Phelan's crimes has come as a massive relief, but also of little consolation when Eileen knows so many lives have been destroyed.

Speaking of her horrid hubby, Eileen thinks she is responsible for Phelan's demise after sending him tumbling into the sea. So as she hibernates at home, clearly depressed, the likes of Liz and Nicola begin to worry that she's sinking into despair rather than trying to rebuild her life.

"Nicola's views obviously mean a lot to Eileen, who pleads her innocence when Nicola calls round to see her," reveals our mole. "As Eileen insists that she had no idea what Phelan was capable of,

"The last thing Eileen needs after her ordeal is to feel threatened"

Nicola's sympathy means the world to Eileen

Nicola says she believes her – then offers Eileen the chance to be a part of her unborn baby's life. So that's a light at the end of a long dark tunnel – until someone decides to make Eileen suffer in a more traumatic way."

The drama unfolds as Eileen finds out that nasty comments about her have been posted online and her car tyres have been slashed – and then a mystery intruder breaks into the house! As Eileen arms herself with a frying pan, who will she be confronted by? Will she discover her tormentor? Or is there an even darker force lurking in the shadows?

Laura-Jayne Tyler

THE SUSPECTS!

This lot all have a grudge to bear...

PHELAN

The big man himself is still out there, and surely stewing over his very violent encounter with Eileen. However, would he really risk returning to the cobbles so soon?

GAIL

Eileen's arch-rival has never needed a reason to take a pop at her – but seeing as Phelan robbed Gail of husband number five, Michael Rodwell, she has a bigger axe to grind than usual...

AYLA

Much like Gail, Alya is still grieving the loss of a loved one – in this case her fella Luke Britton, who was murderous Phelan's fourth victim. Are these hateful acts really Alya's style, though?

ABI

Seb's mum seems to reappear out of nowhere this week, prompting kind Eileen to offer her a bed for the night. But does Abi have an ulterior motive in returning to Coronation Street?

GARY

His mum Anna has been in prison since Phelan framed her for GBH, and Eileen is too ashamed to support the campaign to free her. Could the likes of Gary, who is unswervingly loyal to his mum, be making Eileen pay?

Linda tries to laugh it off – and Mel is highly amused

It's the battle of the business blondes in Albert Square this week, as Mel and Linda go head-to-head!

The tensions start to rise when Mel pops round to Phil and Sharon's house and is surprised to find Linda, clad in a sports top and pyjama bottoms. Having sought refuge at the Mitchells' following an embarrassing incident, Linda is caught off-guard and left red-faced...

"Linda is particularly embarrassed because – as always – Mel is the epitome of glamour, while she's been spotted at her frumpiest!" chuckles our East End informant. "These two women are each other's main competition in the Walford business world, which only adds to the awkwardness. Mel is desperate for E20 to be a big success, and she knows the best way to do that is to tempt Linda's regulars away from the Vic. But right here, face to face, with Linda looking like a dog's breakfast, Mel can hardly contain her amusement – and Linda vows that she won't be humiliated a second time!"

As the pair exchange barbed comments about each other's venues, their rivalry escalates. However, to flaunt her confidence and in the spirit of fair play, Mel invites Linda over to the club for a drink that evening. "I don't think Mel takes Linda terribly seriously," muses our mole. "She's got her hands dirty in all sorts of dangerous situations in the past – she's as cool as a cucumber – whereas

It's Mel vs Linda!

EASTENDERS | BBC1 THURSDAY

AS MEL CATCHES LINDA IN AN AWKWARD SPOT, THE PAIR PREPARE TO DO BATTLE...

Linda seems to get flustered over the tiniest little thing. As far as Mel is concerned, she's got victory in the bag!"

Later, after Linda turns up at E20, she's further irritated to spy former Vic employee Woody behind the bar. And her evening gets even worse when she manages to spill a drink all down her posh dress, shaming herself in front of Mel once more.

"Poor, poor Linda!" howls our snitch. "She's trying to look her coolest and most sophisticated, but instead she disgraces herself all over again. Even though it wasn't Mel's fault, Linda feels that her rival is laughing at her and wants to take every opportunity to rub her nose in it. The only way Linda will feel better about herself is if she can find a way to get her own back..."

Woody really betray his pal? Yes he would!

As far as Mel is concerned, she's got victory in the bag!"

Linda is looking her best – until a drink gets in the way

You can say that again!

OUR FAVOURITE RECENT SOAP QUOTES...

Mel arrogantly assumes that she doesn't have any reason to fear her accident-prone rival, whereas Linda reckons that Mel's smugness will end up being her downfall. Whatever revenge plan she comes up with, the rest of Walford had better duck for cover – it looks as if this war is just getting started!

Tom Spilsbury

"Your taste in clothes is as good as your taste in men. It's a match made in heaven."

Rebecca may have suffered a brain injury, but as Kerry discovered, her tongue was most certainly left unscathed...

"I'd never let my guest leave without their pudding. It's how I was brought up."

Ah yes, we can just imagine the afters at Angie and Den's back in the day. She'd be head down in the sherry trifle while he'd be tempting a guest with his spotted dick...

"Will someone please wake up and smell the dead bodies? Eileen knew about it, she must have done."

Sadly, Tracy's qualifications in 'murderology' – being a killer herself, and once intending to wed another killer – don't always make her an expert.

"You haven't forgotten how to be a teacher, right? You still know how to get the best out of teenagers? Ones that think they know best?"

"My specialist subject, as it happens."

Nudge nudge. Wink wink. Say no more, eh Michelle?

"I wasn't able to say it before, but I don't love you any more. I don't fancy you. I don't know how it happened, or when, but I can't pretend any more. There's no point. If it's not there, it's not there. You've already packed a bag as well, so if you want to go, maybe you should."

David's cold dismissal of Shona brought home to us perhaps more than anything else just how Josh's actions have killed David inside.

David's secret uncovered?

SALON NEWCOMER EMMA GETS UNDER HIS SKIN...

The arrival of a new face at the salon sends David into a spiral of anxiety this week – as new girl Emma spots his distress over Josh.

Still hiding his torment at having been sexually assaulted, David is cross when Maria announces she's taken on an apprentice, but he's forced to accept that Emma is sticking around. The day then gets worse after Alya shows up and starts gossiping with Maria and Jenny over her hot date with Josh. She's clearly smitten with the twisted rapist, and it sickens David. While the girls are oblivious to his reaction, though, Emma clocks it...

"The people who love him know something is up with David, yet only Emma links it to Josh," explains our Street snitch. "She spots his face while the girls are getting giddy over what a handsome, eligible bachelor Josh is, and she knows something isn't right. But even when she sees David's look, Emma of course has no idea what actually happened."

The next day, David finds the girls giggling at a picture of David is infuriated to discover that Shona has seen the kids...

...and takes out his frustration on Gail him on Josh's social media. It's so painful to hear their laughter that David flies into a rage – and his mood doesn't improve after he learns that Gail has allowed Max and Lily to visit his ex-girlfriend Shona at Roy's flat. When David bans his mum from babysitting, she knows something has to be done.

"David has always been a handful, but Gail knows this is different," shares our informant. "The level of anger is stratospheric, and David can't seem to get control over his emotions. It's not a rational reaction to hit the roof about Shona, who's done nothing wrong. For Gail, it's time there were some answers – and she's determined out to find out what's up with her son."

However, as she and Sarah discuss volatile David and

CALLS TO HELPLINE SURGE

Coronation Street's decision to tell a story about male rape has sparked a 1,700 per cent surge in calls to charity Male Survivor.

Statistics show that sexual abuse of men and boys is drastically under-reported and that many victims never seek justice. So this rise in calls is a sign the story is reaching those in need...

"I found out the actual statistic and how many more men – in response to what happened on Corrie – had picked up the phone and asked for help," says Duncan Craig, the founder of Survivors Manchester, who has worked with the show.

"I think it's mind-blowing, and I'm so proud of [producer] Kate Oates, Ryan [Clayton, aka Josh], Jack [P Shepherd, aka David], the writers and the whole team for presenting what is a really difficult story, but an incredibly important story."

debate what's really going on, David is finding it increasingly hard to cope. He's isolated from everyone and feeling unable to report what's happened to him – so what will the traumatised fella do next?

BBC1 SATURDAY

Ethan runs into patient Leigh-Ann again this week, and it's clear that he feels an unhealthy responsibility for her welfare.

Having recently discovered that her baby's dad is Scott

Ellison – whom Ethan purposely allowed to die as revenge for murdering his brother Cal – the acting clinical lead can't help but intervene when Leigh-Ann brings newborn Kiegan into the ED with an infection.

But will Ethan's kindness make Leigh-Ann suspicious?

Scarlett woman!

HOLLYOAKS
Channel 4 MONDAY

Luke's birthday celebrations descend into chaos this week, after his ex-wife Scarlett turns up determined to cause as much trouble as she can! Scarlett convinces Ollie that it would be best for everyone if his parents are reunited, so he agrees to help ruin Luke and Mandy's fledgling marriage. Mandy is in turn shocked to learn that Luke has been drinking again, and refuses to listen to his explanations. And as Ollie tells his delighted mum that she has her chance, she moves in for the kill...

A date with destiny?

Marlon and Jessie get closer...

EMMERDALE
ITV WEDNESDAY

This week, lovelorn Marlon realises he might have a chance with Jessie after all, as she agrees to go on a date with him.

He was gutted when April's head teacher rejected him not long ago, insisting they should remain friends. But after they got to know each other better, a spark emerged between the pair – and playful Jessie has great fun winding up Marlon over the class gerbil this week!

In a quandary after the pet died while in their care, Marlon and Paddy replaced the gerbil with a new one, not realising the original was terminally ill. Thanks to its 'miraculous' recovery, Jessie invites Marlon to explain to April's class, in an excruciating experience for the hapless chef. However, the situation looks up once Paddy forces Marlon to ask Jessie out again, and she agrees to a date.

The pair have a lovely time together over coffee, and Marlon feels Jessie might change her mind about him having boyfriend potential. So, will they get together after all?

Could there be a new Dales romance in the offing?

Lydia & Sam's love nest

EMMERDALE
ITV WEDNESDAY

Lovebirds Lydia and Sam are set to put their romance to the ultimate test this week, as Lydia suggests to delighted Sam that she could move in with him. The kooky pairing has been one of the village's strongest since they got engaged, and as Lydia and Sam prepare to make a home together, it seems nothing could upset the apple cart. But how is scruffy Sam set to cope with professional cleaner Lydia's devotion to keeping things spotless?

Wood if he could!

EASTENDERS
BBC1 MONDAY

Billy clashes with Woody at nightclub E20 this week, as the pair scrap over who's in charge!

With the club up and running, Billy tries to assert his authority. However, Woody has other ideas, and forces Billy to dress up to promote a theme night. Humiliated and downhearted, Billy returns home and moans to Donna about the way he's been treated. But he has another nasty shock in store – Woody is standing behind him, and Donna's invited him to be their new housemate!

Would now be a good time for the pair to call a truce?

Billy is really just skirting the issue

Simon tortures Toyah!

Will the nasty teen destroy her baby dreams?

CORONATION STREET
ITV MONDAY

Paranoid Toyah is forced to give in to Simon's demands this week – as he threatens to expose her to the people she loves most.

She and Eva have managed to get this far without Peter or Leanne discovering their surrogacy deal, plus the fact that Peter and Toyah's original surrogate miscarried their child. If Leanne knew Eva was giving her child to Toyah, she'd be stunned – and Peter would be utterly horrified. Eva is currently hidden away in a cottage in the Cheshire countryside – but now that Simon knows something is up, he could be in a position to ruin everything for her and hopeful Toyah.

His first move is to get Toyah to convince Peter that the £20 he stole from her was just misplaced – and she has no choice but to go along with it. Peter is none the wiser, but when Toyah tells Eva that Simon is on her case, both sisters despair.

There's nothing they can do to stop bully boy Simon without blowing their secret – but what will his next move be?

Piper attacked!

Vile Lockie is only after one thing from her...

NEIGHBOURS
Channel 5 MONDAY

Piper faces one of the most terrifying moments of her life this week, as a sleazy guy holds her hostage and starts to get physical!

The horrifying situation unfolds as Piper tries tracking down the mystery person who's been leaving all her favourite novels at the local book exchange, and jumps to the conclusion that it's this guy, Lockie. So after finding out from Aaron that he works at Back Lane Bar, Piper heads over to speak to him in person.

However, Lockie assumes that Piper wants to hook up with him – so when she tells him that she's not interested in romance, he flips out and locks the door! As Lockie makes it clear he won't take no for an answer, will anyone hear Piper's desperate cries for help?

Was the hint from Phil calling Hunter "son" in EastEnders just to wind Sharon up, or is there no smoke without fire – meaning the reason for Mel's return is so her son can get to know his real father? FURY FROM THE DEEP!

Eileen finally found out the truth in Corrie – as murderous Phelan was claimed by the waves. Or so it seemed! You lot had your hearts in your mouths and your fingers ready to write to Inside Soap...

Sue Cleaver and Connor McIntyre, take a bow – that was a brilliant performance from both actors as Eileen finally, finally found out just what Pat Phelan had done. I totally didn't expect Eileen to stamp on Phelan's hands like that and let him drop to his death, though. Loved the episode, and the lighting effects were superb at the lighthouse.

🟡 | Louise, Leicester

I loved that Corrie were having a joke with us – making Phelan die then rise again over the Easter weekend! I only realised after, but it made me smile!

🟢 | Peter, London

Eileen might have thought that was the end of her killer hubby, but she was wrong...

Oh come on, Corrie writers! How much longer do we have to put up with the awful Phelan saga? Are we seriously supposed to believe that he survived that fall in a storm and managed to get himself to a guest house with that leg injury? Sue Cleaver has been brilliant, but let's get Eileen back home and see her get her life back on track.

🟡 | Ann, Runcorn

Eileen has new problems to deal with – see p22 for what's ailing her this week.

So Eileen was arrested for Phelan's crimes, adding to a long list of wronged Street women that includes Gail, Fiz and Deirdre. They were all done for the crimes of their other halves.

🟡 | Clarry

But Eileen has been released without charge. That's a new development (sort of).

THE BIG interview

“Vincent’s exit won’t disappoint you – everyone will be talking about it!”

The end is nigh for Kim’s harassed husband, but Richard Blackwood is thrilled to be ending his Walford career on a high...

EASTENDERS | BBC1 MONDAY

The first thing we tell Richard Blackwood when he joins Inside Soap for his final EastEnders chat is how disappointed we are that he’s leaving the role of Vincent. “Thank you, that means a lot!” grins the 45-year-old star, whose final episodes go out on screen this week. “It’s a strange feeling, as naturally when your time comes to an end on a show like this, you remember how much you enjoy it – and know how much you’ll miss it. Having said that, the time has come for me to move on.”

It was a mutual agreement between Richard and Walford bosses to write out Vincent when the star was presented with what sounds like an epic exit storyline. The former gangster turned police informant is so desperate for money after losing The Albert to evil Aidan, he turns to the cops and offers to snitch on the villain in return for cash. However, the odds are stacked against him as Vincent faces the threat of jail for his part in the heist – not to mention the wrath of Aidan if he finds out what Vincent is up to...

Blimey, Richard! Vincent must be desperate if he’s willing to risk both his freedom and his life.

Put it this way – even when filming it, I felt sorry for the character. There are little glimmers of hope where you think it might be okay, but then something happens and Vincent is back to square one. The audience will definitely sympathise with him!

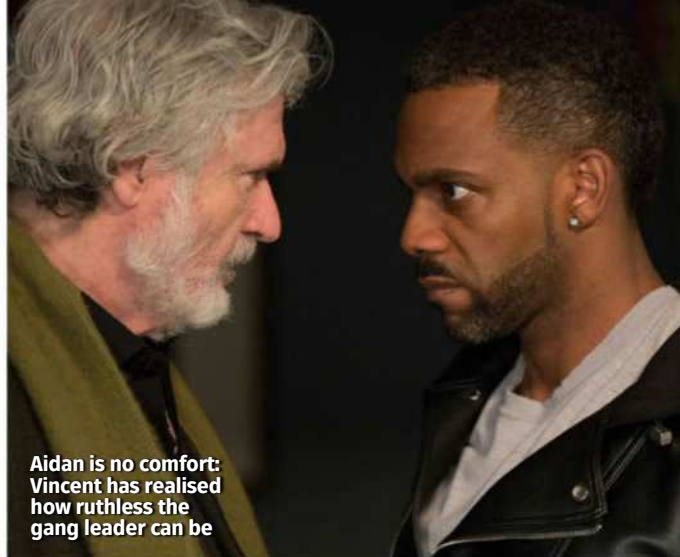

“When Vincent turns to the police again, it’s out of pure desperation!”

Richard on...

GOING LIVE!

“Vincent first appeared on screen during the show’s big 30th birthday week, and I remember the bosses saying, ‘So, your first episode will go out in February – and by the way, it’s going to be live. And not only will it be live, but you will be the first actor on camera.’ I remember thinking, ‘Wow okay... no pressure then!’ It was great that they trusted me, as I’m sure some people were thinking, ‘Are we sure that he can do this?’”

Aidan is no comfort: Vincent has realised how ruthless the gang leader can be

Does he think twice about turning on Aidan, and potentially stitching up Phil, Mick and co in the process?

It's hard for Vincent, as you have to remember that being a grass was a part of his life that he has always been ashamed of. Vincent was never built to be a gangster, so he went straight for a while and embraced family life – but then when Aidan came along, he went down a road without really knowing what the set-up was. Before he knew it, he was in over his head with serious people who will kill you as soon as look at you – but Vincent isn't like that. So when he turns to the police again, it's out of pure desperation. He doesn't know what else to do.

By grassing on Aidan, does Vincent worry that he's a dead man walking now?

Yeah, you'll definitely get a sense of that! He understands quite quickly what the ramifications are for doing it. If you start going down that road, eventually you're going to get hurt.

CONTINUED OVER »

Richard on...

RONNIE 'BLUE EYES' MITCHELL

"Vincent and Ronnie had some good times – and looking back now, it's mad to think how much stuff myself and Sam Womack [who played her] had together in the beginning. Wow! When it was all said and done, though, Kim was the right woman for Vincent. Ronnie was just the one that got away."

Not Kimpressed:
Vincent's wife is at a loss as to what to do

Richard on... OLD MOTHER HUBBARD!

"I spoke to Ellen Thomas [who played Vincent's mother Claudette] the other week, as we're still very much in contact. After we shot the story [where Vincent buried Claudette and she clawed her way out of her own grave], people asked, 'How hard was that to shoot?'. The answer is, it was actually very easy to film because Ellen was so phenomenal. She was my first acting coach on the show without even realising it."

The police give Vincent a deadline to get the information on the gang members – so one way or another, time is running out...

Yes, it is. Vincent is working against the clock anyway – he's run out of money, things are going bad, and he doesn't want his family to know. Kim thinks her husband will be fine, as that's just what he does, but little does she know that he could be putting them all in danger.

Was it sad for you knowing that Vincent's exit would spell the end for his marriage to Kim?

It's a horrible thought! But EastEnders is very good at leaving the audience wanting more – this machine has been going for many years. The writers are exceptional at what they do, so they understand the audience are rooting for these characters. However, no one can be happy in Walford – otherwise it would be a boring show!

After Vincent meets with his police contact and incriminates Aidan and Phil over the New Year's Day heist, Kim begins to grow suspicious that her hubby is up to something. He promises to tell her everything, until a twist in the tale forces him to drop a huge bombshell on his stunned wife. How will Kim react? And how will Vincent leave Walford? Will it be in a black taxi – or a wooden box?

It's a shame that Vincent has come unstuck because of Aidan. We'd have liked to have seen the gangster in him come out fighting!

This is where I had love for Patrick Bergin [aka Aidan] because there were scenes

Richard on...

VINCENT'S THREADS

"Vincent liked to be super cool, so he was constantly in a leather jacket that was always worn slightly open, and never done up. What was wrong with him? Was he a nutter? It's freezing cold outside in the winter!"

What was the secret of the success of your on-screen partnership?

Tameka and I had a real journey together. Anyone will tell you that the way we would laugh and joke on set, it's a miracle we got any filming done! Among other actors who looked out for me on the show, Tameka was very hands on. She'd never let me sink, she'd always make sure I delivered – and that's the reason we cried. That's what we represent to each other.

The nature of Vincent's exit is secret, but are you pleased with it?

I really am. When I read the scripts, I thought, 'Okay, if this is what we're doing, I'm going to deliver it so that the viewers at home are left going wow'. I know that it sounds like a clichéd thing to say, but Vincent's exit is definitely going to be a talking point for a while. Once again, EastEnders doesn't disappoint! They leave you in a space where, as soon as you hear the 'doof doof', you'll be on the phone saying, "Oh my God"! It'll be one of those moments.

What's next for you then, Richard?

I've got a film coming out towards the end of the year, and some theatre has come up which is also good – but really and truly, my dream is to be a Hollywood actor like Jamie Foxx or Will Smith. This probably sounds a bit crazy, but I believe that I'm meant to be doing what I do out there on a grand scale. That's the reason why I work out, do my kung fu, my comedy and acting. I want to have the all-round package so I can go out there and do it all!

Laura-Jayne Tyler

An unfair cop: Vincent is caught in a quandary

When Walford bosses came to you with Vincent's exit, was it easy for you to go along with that decision?

After three years of playing him, I felt I'd made a name for myself on the show and that people believed in the character. I wanted to leave on a high, and together with EastEnders, I think I've achieved that.

What was Tameka's (Empson, aka Kim) reaction to you going?

Tameka and I have the best relationship as we've been friends for a long time, and working together made us so close. We were actually on set when I tried to tell her, and I saw her well up and she said, "I can't do this now, we've got to do the scene". Afterwards, when I told her properly, she came to my dressing room and gave me a gift, and we both cried.

where he'd d go, "I wouldn't be able to do this to Vincent in real life!". We laughed about it as we understood that it had been written that way for a reason, but there were times when I would say, "C'mon, can I just hit him a little bit?". And they'd say, "No, Richard. It's not in the script!". [laughs]

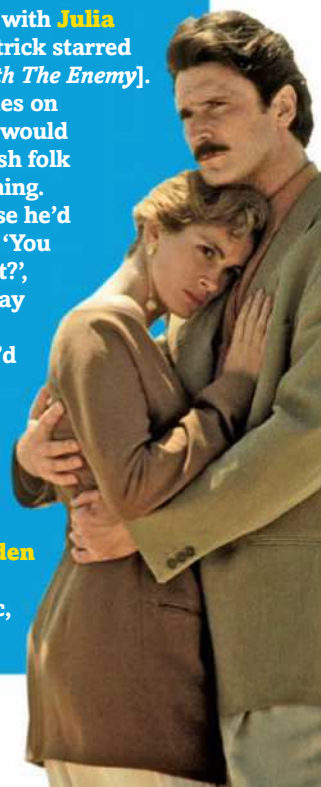

"Anyone will tell you that the way Tameka and I would laugh and joke on set, it's a miracle we got any filming done!"

Richard on...

HOLLYWOOD ROYALTY

"Within minutes of working with Patrick Bergin [Aidan], I'd forgotten that this was a huge Hollywood star, as he was just so committed to the role. We'd been filming for a month before it hit me, and I asked what it was like working with Julia Roberts [whom Patrick starred with in Sleeping With The Enemy].

"In between scenes on EastEnders, Patrick would start singing old Irish folk songs without warning. It was funny because he'd look at you and go, 'You know this one, right?', and I could safely say I'd never heard it before. But then he'd turn round to me and ask, 'Richard, what are the latest hip hop songs I should buy?'. We'd be sat there with Steve McFadden [who plays Phil] talking about music, and it was great!"

CORONATION STREET | ITV WEDNESDAY

THE RACE TO SAVE RANA!

CORRIE'S BHAVNA LIMBACHIA LIFTS THE LID ON THE SHOCK KIDNAPPING OF HER ALTER EGO...

The fragile truce between Rana and her parents is destroyed this week, as they catch her in a passionate embrace with secret girlfriend Kate!

Not only is this the moment sister-in-law Alya discovers that Zeedan's marriage is a sham, but it's the catalyst for the Habeebs to take drastic action to protect their family reputation. Consumed by guilt, Rana agrees to accompany her mum abroad to visit a sick relative – though she doesn't realise what's really in store for her in Pakistan. And actress Bhavna Limbachia, who plays Rana, was shocked when she researched her alter ego's story, and discovered the lengths that some families have gone to in situations such as this...

"Parents do take extreme measures to cover up anything they don't agree with – physical violence and kidnappings are not uncommon in the Asian community when it comes to an offspring's sexuality," she reveals. "Parents often don't see it as a personal attack on their child, more so they see it as saving face in the

Nazir and loathing: Alya is utterly disgusted by Zeedan's arrangement with the Habeebs

Yasmeen's business: Zeedan's grandma realises what's going on with Rana community. I've worked with the Naz And Matt Foundation [a charity that tackles homophobia triggered by religious and cultural beliefs], and heard many stories.

"In Rana's case, she doesn't question anything – she believes going to Pakistan with her mum is the only way she can make things better and win her round," adds Bhavna. "She's caught up trying to do the right thing by everybody. When her parents find Rana with Kate, they don't react well. They're disgusted and feel cheated that she's broken the terms of the financial contract they made."

Rana's husband Zeedan is furious that she got caught, as it means the deal is off and he has no funding for his Speed Daal business. It also has to be explained to Alya, who is upset to discover that she's the only person who knew nothing of the bizarre arrangement.

"Alya is the last one to find out," sighs Bhavna. "This is the ultimate betrayal – Rana knows there's no going back."

Rana thinks that going to Pakistan is the only way to make it better

As the repercussions of this incident are felt, Rana is shocked when her mum asks her to visit her dying aunt in Pakistan. She believes it could be a way to make things up to them, but doesn't realise her family have a plan to kidnap her once there.

"Rana will do anything to win back her family's love, so she doesn't question her mum's story," shares Bhavna. "Out of desperation to cover up their daughter's shame, the Habeebs take drastic action to ensure Rana and Kate can't be together."

Yasmeen is the one who sounds the alarm – and soon Kate, Zeedan and Imran race to the rescue. But will they make it in time? Whatever happens, Bhavna has a prediction: "After this week's episodes, Rana will never be the same again..."

EMMERDALE | ITV TUESDAY

"Bob hasn't got a clue!"

Tony Audenshaw admits his alter ego is oblivious to Brenda's scheming...

While Brenda is blackmailing Laurel to stop her telling Bob she knows about his affair this week, he's ploughing on with their wedding plans regardless. But when he fears that Brenda's strange behaviour is down to her cancer returning, will a row between Laurel and Brenda force out the truth? It'll come as a shock if so, admits Bob's real-life alter ego Tony Audenshaw...

Laurel and Bob have ended it – but is Bob still committed to marrying Brenda?

Absolutely! He's serious about it. As far as he's concerned, the affair with Laurel is in the past, so it's full steam ahead for the wedding. He's worried about Brenda, though...

Has he finally noticed that she's not been herself?

He's not got a clue – Brenda's been hiding it well!

But then Heath tells him about her 'secret cupboard', where she's stashed the stuff she bought with Laurel's bank card. All this random stuff tumbles out of it – hot-water bottles, bike helmets. That's when he thinks, 'What's going on?'

He assumes it's her cancer coming back, doesn't he?

She's distracted and has headaches, and he wonders if she's stolen that stuff – because she shoplifted when she had the brain tumour. He puts all these things together.

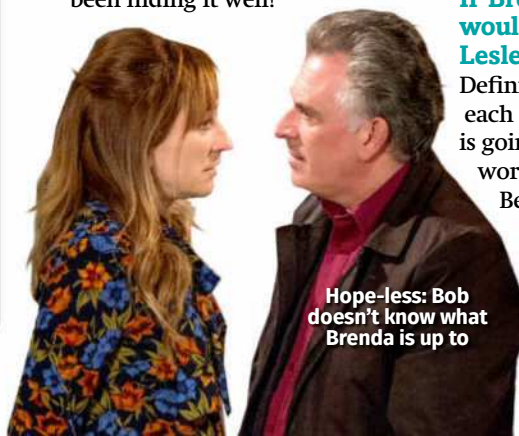

Then he sees Brenda and Laurel having a row – is he scared that the truth is out?

No! He just thinks Brenda is being out of order – she's given Laurel's son Arthur cash for a school trip. He goes to Laurel to apologise, and admits he thinks Brenda's ill. That conversation leads to something else, but I can't say what!

If Brenda and Bob split up, would you miss working with Lesley Dunlop (Brenda)?

Definitely. But we see more of each other when upsetting stuff is going on. And of course, I get to work with the fabulous Charlotte Bellamy [Laurel], too. And even though it's terrible what Bob's done, it's fun having two women fighting over him!

Hollyoaks' Hunter McQueen

...faces your questions!

It's been a tough 12 months for poor Hunter since he lost his beloved girlfriend Neeta – but things are about to get a whole lot tougher for star Theo as he answers your questions...

“What was the best thing about getting to film in Ibiza last year?”

I really enjoy the sun and I love getting away whenever I can, so to go to Ibiza and film didn't feel like work at all! Myself and Amrit [Maghera, who played Neeta] had quite heavy schedules, so we didn't really get much downtime, but I know some of the others got to go out and party. I still enjoyed it, though.

“Are you and Amrit still in contact now she's left the show?”

Yeah, we're still in contact. Every now and then we'll chat with each other and see what the other one is doing. She's just finished a guest part in Casualty, so she's doing well at the moment. I'm really happy for her – I think she's brilliant.

“What did you like about filming in Ibiza?”

“Who would you like to come in as Hunter's next love interest now Neeta's gone?”

It's hard to see Hunter with another girl – he spent all his time being so obsessed with this one person, so I've not thought about it. And I don't think he has either! But if I could bring in anyone to play his next girlfriend, it would be Margot Robbie. Hollyoaks should call and see what she says...

My, oh Myra! Hunter's aunt is Theo's favourite McQueen

“Who's your best friend in the Hollyoaks cast?”

My best friend without a doubt is Malique [Thompson-Dwyer, who plays Hunter's twin Prince]. We'd never met before the show, and I was a bit nervous in case we didn't like each other. But we gelled straight away, and now he's more like a brother than a friend. He's brilliant – I love him.

“What has been your highlight of the past year at Hollyoaks?”

It's been a massive year for Hunter, so it's really hard to pick just one thing. I was fortunate to get the opportunity to do such a big storyline [with Neeta and Hunter's romance], and working alongside Amrit was amazing. But a standout moment for me was filming the big school explosion.

“Who's your all-time favourite member of the McQueen family?”

I'm going to have to go with my Auntie Myra. I love Nicole Barber-Lane [who plays her], she's great. She's always a laugh on set, and always positive.

Fun in the sun: The star enjoyed his time filming in Ibiza – though he had plenty of work to do

Neeta the cheater: Hunter had an affair with the teaching assistant

And she's taken me and Malique under her wing since we started on the show, so I've learned a lot from her.

"What's the best thing about having Malique as your screen twin?"

I laugh a lot – there's never a dull moment with Malique around! It's always fun to be on set with him. I think the crew sometimes get a bit annoyed, though, because we're just so full of energy! I wouldn't say we're naughty, but we do have our moments where we get a bit carried away...

"You were in Doctors for a while before Hollyoaks [as Barney Turner in 2016]. What was that like?"

It was brilliant! I originally went in for a guest part, which was just one episode, and then a year later I went back for five episodes. That was just before I started at Hollyoaks, so it gave me a taster of what was to come. But everyone at Doctors was lovely, and it's exactly the same as at Hollyoaks – they're like a family.

"Hunter is brilliant at art, but what's the best piece of artwork that a fan has ever made for you?"

I haven't received it in person, but someone drew a portrait of my Hollyoaks head shot on a big canvas, and took a photo of it and sent it to me on Twitter. It's amazing to see people go that far – I don't know what happened to it in the end, but I wouldn't mind having it!

"Hunter always seems to be crying at the moment. How do you cope with those big, emotional scenes?"

"Who's your best mate in the Hollyoaks cast?"

If I know I have those sorts of scenes coming up, I come into work in a certain headspace. The crew are great, so before we go for a take they'll all be quiet and let me concentrate so I can get into the right mindset. I'm quite open with my emotions, but sometimes it can be demanding – especially when you have to go for another take.

"Hunter has had lots of scenes with Yasmine recently, as she has"

"What's it like having Chelsee Healey [Goldie] as a screen mum?"

...asks reader Sarah Michaels from Warrington

Chelsee is great – she's always there whenever you need her, and she's given me some brilliant advice. It's weird that she plays our mum, though, because she's more like our friend in real life as she's not a lot older than me and Malique – the three of us are like little kids on set! But we always know that Chelsee will be there to stick up for us if we need her to.

Question winner!

Twin it to win it: Prince and Hunter have certainly caused a stir since arriving in Hollyoaks in 2016

Neeta's heart. How is working with Haiesha Mistry, who plays her?"

Funnily enough, me and Haiesha knew each other before Hollyoaks, because we both trained at an acting school called DNA Performance in Manchester. But I didn't find out she had the part until I looked at the filming schedule and saw her name on there! When I walked in and saw her there it was a massive surprise. But it was nice to get on set with someone that I already knew.

FROST in the SUMMER!

SAM FROST SWAPS REALITY TV STARDOM FOR HOME AND AWAY...

Jasmine Delaney's first few weeks in the Bay haven't exactly been a barrel of laughs, but things finally start to look up this week as she strikes up a lovely friendship with Mason. So what better time to grab Home and Away newcomer Sam Frost – former star of reality show The Bachelorette Australia, in which a pool of men vie to marry an eligible woman – for a chat about her first major acting role...

Hey, Sam! What have your first few months on the show been like?

They've been amazing! The whole crew is like one big family – they've all been so supportive of me and made me feel at home from day one.

You've kind of been thrown in at the deep end following stints on two big reality shows Down Under.

Yeah it's been challenging, but equally rewarding. The cast are a great support network – we all give each other advice on what's working or not, or how to approach different scenes. We also have incredible acting coaches who guide us. We're always learning and doing our best to evolve.

Ada mémoire: Sam found her co-star a great help at the start

Who's taken you under their wing and looked after you?

Ada Nicodemou [Leah] has been a great mentor and friend. We had most of my first scenes together, and she really helped me through the process – and she still does today. I'm so lucky our characters are such good friends, like we are!

What do Home and Away viewers think of Jasmine?

Jasmine is a likeable character, she's not there to step on anyone's toes or be the villain. She's a typical Australian girl in that she loves the beach and the outdoors, but her naivety and trust in people can get her into some sticky situations. I think viewers are able to relate to those qualities in her.

Can you give us any hints about what else is coming up for Jasmine?

As Jasmine starts to call Summer Bay her home, you'll see her grow and become more confident in herself. Who knows, maybe there'll be a little romance for her too...

10 totally true FACTS about... Kellie Bright

YOUR InsideSoap BRIEFING ON THE WOMAN BEHIND EASTENDERS' LINDA...

1 Kellie was born on 1 July 1976 (sharing her birthday with alter ego Linda!) and has been performing since she was 11 years old. After some early stage success, she won a place at the prestigious Sylvia Young Theatre School – with Denise van Outen, Luisa Bradshaw-White, Keeley Hawes and Emma Bunton among her contemporaries.

4 If you're of a certain age, you might remember a very young Kellie on your screens back in the 1980s, when she played Sally Simpkins in two series of T-Bag on CITV. She also had roles in Maid Marian And Her Merry Men, The Bill, The Upper Hand and Brush Strokes – all before she turned 18!

2 She made her debut as Linda Carter in December 2013 – introduced alongside husband Mick, son Johnny, daughter Nancy and their bulldog Lady Di as the new publicans of the Queen Vic, after Phil sold the boozer to Mick. Linda's most memorable story so far has been her horrifying rape at the hands of her husband's brother, Dean, with the landlady falling pregnant shortly after. Luckily, baby Ollie was eventually revealed to have been fathered by Mick, not vile Dean.

3 In real life, Kellie married her long-term partner Paul Stocker in 2014, having met him at the age of 11! She'd given birth to their first child Freddie back in 2011, and a second son, Gene, followed in November 2016. Shortly after Gene's birth, she admitted: "It's such a cliché, but it really is a love like nothing else." She also said that she wants to have baby number three – so fingers crossed!

5 Although we're now used to seeing her behind the bar of the Vic, Kellie could have been the face of another EastEnders legend. She'd previously auditioned for the role of Tanya Branning back in 2006. We can't quite picture her getting it on with Max – can you?

7 Kellie made her big-screen debut in the 2002 movie Ali G Indahouse, playing 'Me Julie'. Kellie features in some very hot snogging scenes with the saucy gangster rapper – quite a contrast to homely Linda!

8 Even though she admitted that she hadn't danced since she was 16, Kellie proved she'd not lost any of her skill – waltzing her way to the runner-up position in the 2015 series of Strictly Come Dancing with partner Kevin Clifton. We still think she should have won, though – and clearly so did the judges, awarding her 119 points out of a possible 120 in the final!

9 Kellie revealed that her most embarrassing moment on the EastEnders set was when she lost one of her fake boobs! "I have a little bit of help in the breast department to play Linda," she recalled in 2015. "There was a scene where one of my chicken fillets fell through my bra and landed in the road as I was running, and I just had to pick it up and carry on going. Afterwards, I was crying with laughter!"

6 Lovely jubbly – Kellie is Del Boy's mum! Although she never appeared in legendary sitcom Only Fools And Horses itself (in which the character of Joan Trotter had long since passed away), Kellie took on the role in prequel drama Rock & Chips for three episodes, including a feature-length opener. She is seen embarking on an affair with Freddie 'The Frog' Robbdal, played by Nicholas Lyndhurst – a liaison that results in the birth of young Rodney!

10 Helped along by her co-stars Danny Dyer (Mick), Linda Henry (Shirley) and Luisa Bradshaw-White (Tina), Kellie took part in 'Veganuary' – a charitable venture encouraging people to try being vegan for a whole month. The actress said she enjoyed it so much that she and her husband decided to carry on being vegans for good – so maybe it's time for a change to the Vic menu, too?

Victoria's SECRETS!

As viewers explore an expanded Weatherfield for the first time this week, we take a detailed look at the new Victoria Street set – and recall the cobbles of years gone by...

If you're an eagle-eyed, keen-eared Corrie fan, you'll already have a sense that something mysterious is afoot in Weatherfield. Maybe you've spotted Gail hoofing about with giant bags of shopping from the Co-op. Or perhaps, when the coffee machine broke down recently in Roy's Rolls, you'll recall Chesney pulling a face. "Oh, I'll go down the road," he said, "and get a proper cappuccino." But where might Chesney have meant? Surely Roy's is the only café for miles around?

In fact, these were the first clues to a world beyond the Weatherfield we already know. It's called Victoria Street, and you'll find it just along past the kebab shop, the community centre and that bit where Tina McIntyre was bludgeoned to death. This week, we'll see our favourite characters step off the edge of the world we know, and walk the full length of Victoria Street for the first time.

"It's new to viewers, but not new to the residents of Coronation Street," explains series producer Kate Oates. "To them, it's always been there. But these additional locations have so much dramatic potential for the programme – we're going to have a lot of fun!"

Inside Soap enjoyed an access-all-areas tour of Victoria Street – and here we present a guide to some of the special little details you might miss...

Venture on to Victoria Street – the latest addition to the cobbles

Shops and businesses

As well as branches of the Co-op and Costa Coffee – which both offer bonus sponsorship income for ITV – there are other new venues where the residents of Weatherfield can hang out. Tattoos and body piercing are available from the punningly named Tattoo'll Do Nicely (cash-only payment, mind you!). We wonder who'll be the first Weatherfielder to pledge eternal love to their partner with an ink tribute, just days before they embark on an affair? Next door to the tattoo parlour is an old-time snooker hall – where Note the fire escape! Kal Nazir could have done with one of those...

Zeedan may have lost a wife, but he's gained an eatery

Fancy tram debris in your caramel latte? You've come to the right place!

we foresee many a fortune lost to an ill-advised gamble.

Curry no favours

Zeedan has found lovely premises for his new restaurant, Speed Daal. (They like a pun on the cobbles.) However, it's not the menu that draws our eye, but the height of that vertiginous fire escape running up the outside. How long can it be till a cheating spouse is pushed to their untimely end from that top landing? Ker-splat!

InsideSoap BEHIND-THE-SCENES!

The Bench of Dirty Doings looks as if it's seen a few dirty deeds already!

FROM PREVIOUS PAGE Care in the community

The calm centre of Victoria Street is the community garden – planted and tended by locals, and we can only assume that it's long been a project close to the hearts of the likes of Roy and Yasmeen. At the heart of the garden is a beautiful bench, dedicated to real-life Corrie fan Martyn Hett and all who lost their lives in the Manchester Arena attack of May 2017. The bench is decorated with a mosaic of worker bees – one of the symbols of the spirit of the city.

"We wanted to remember Martyn and everyone who was injured in the attack, and the people who are still coping with loss and life change," shares Kate. "We wanted to show that we stand in solidarity with Manchester."

The community garden may be the site of allotment drama

While we're sure the tribute bench will be treated with all due respect, we can't help but notice a second bench in the community garden, tucked out of view under a red canopy. Inside Soap has officially christened this The Bench Of Dirty Doings, as it's surely destined to be the scene of many a lustful lunge in the years to come.

On the right track

Welcome to Weatherfield North tram station, the new gateway to Manchester and the whole wide world – maybe even as far as Didsbury.

"It's great for us to have a tram station," enthuses Kate. "Because if a character leaves normally and we need to have a 'Don't go!' scene, then we have to film at a train station or an airport. Now we can do it on our own doorstep!"

We're forced to wonder – is there a Weatherfield South, with drama to match the cobbles?

You're nicked!

Given the sky-high crime rate on the cobbles, one new location that's sure to see a lot of use is the police station – which turns out to be a lot nearer to Coronation Street than we'd ever thought. The timing is perfect, too, just as Craig is accepted for training as a full-time police officer. Will we soon be following the lives and loves of the plucky men and women of the Weatherfield constabulary? Let's hope so, because we really miss The Bill!

Meanwhile, one cute little detail on the set suggests that there's a sci-fi fan working somewhere in the Coronation Street design department. The sign above the emergency phone is a copy of the one on the door of Doctor Who's famous Tardis!

Poor framed Anna Windass could have moved in for a while there

“It was the coldest place on Earth!”

A POTTED HISTORY OF THE SETS OF CORONATION STREET...

1960 Warm in the studio

The earliest episodes of Corrie were recorded – with some broadcast live – from inside the studios at Granada TV in Manchester. The house fronts were built to a three-quarter scale, with some of the sets of the interior rooms built across the fake cobbles – requiring some clever camera angles!

1967 Braving the elements

The Corrie team used their first big stunt – the original viaduct crash – to cover the move to their first outdoor set. To begin with, the original wooden scenery was reassembled outside, but as that soon rotted, the show's first brick set was built. The cast hated working on this damp set, located beside an old railway siding in Manchester, and dubbed it “the coldest place on Earth”.

1982 By Royal appointment

On 5 May 1982, a brand-new Coronation Street set built on the Granada Studios backlot was officially opened by the Queen and Prince Philip. This would be the show's home for the next 30 years, and would also become a popular tourist destination once Granada launched its popular studio tour.

1989 Evening out

A move to three weekly episodes brought a need for new locations... which in turn meant big changes to the Street. The old community centre and Baldwin's Casuals factory were knocked down to make room for the even-numbered ‘new’ houses – now occupied by the Platts, Nazirs and Metcalfes – plus Underworld and what would become the Kabin.

1999 Victoria St part1

A fourth weekly episode again required the Street to expand – and this led to the building of the Victoria Street shops, including what we now know as Roy's Rolls café and the kebab shop. The Victoria Court flats were later added to what we'd thought was the end of Victoria Street.

2013 Bigger and better

With the city centre land occupied by Granada Studios ripe for redevelopment, a new set was built (finally at full size) on land beside Salford Quays. Careful camera angles avoid showing the silver fin of the nearby Imperial War Museum North – and if you compare pictures of the old and new sets, you can see how the Rovers gained a window and Roy's Rolls nearly doubled in size!

2018 Victoria St part2

Once again, it is the addition of another weekly episode – the show's sixth – that has brought about an expansion in the set. In the 2013 rebuild, the Victoria Court flats quietly slipped 20 feet to the left, opening up the newly extended Victoria Street. But while that may be new to us, the Weatherfield locals have always used it as their short cut to the local tram stop...

STAR Watch!

The LATEST stories, your FAVOURITE stars...

Beautiful daughter, beautiful mother – Helen with Sally

BUMPING along nicely!

CORRIE'S HELEN PREPARES FOR THE BIRTH OF HER SECOND CHILD...

It feels as if she's only just landed back on the Street as mischievous but lovable Rosie Webster, yet actress Helen Flanagan is heading off again!

There are only six weeks to go until the star gives birth to a second child with her footballer partner Scott Sinclair (and boy does she look ready to pop – check out the size of that beautiful bump!). The Weatherfield favourite has begun to say her goodbyes as she prepares to film her final scenes for the time being, and posted to her Instagram account a candid snap with her television mum and friend Sally Dynevor (Sally). Helen captioned it: "My last month at Coronation Street before my maternity leave. Going to miss everyone, especially my on-screen mum and my sister, Brooke Vincent [Sophie]. I definitely want to return as Rosie, just not sure when that will be."

We wish Helen the best of luck in the next chapter of her life – but let's hope ditzzy Rosie is back before we know it!

FAMILY FIRST!

She's been away from the Square for a few years now, but Patsy Palmer (Bianca Butcher) hasn't had much opportunity to pine for her Walford roots. Patsy relocated to Malibu four years ago with her hubby Richard Merkell and brood, and it seems the showbiz lifestyle has rubbed off on her kids. While eldest boy Charley has carved out a successful acting career, her son Fenton and daughter Emilia are breaking into the modelling industry. Sixteen-year-old Emilia is a pro on the red carpet, posing most recently alongside her mum at the National Film Awards in London. And while Bertie, seven, is a tad too young to have a career in mind just yet, he's showing the same affinity for the camera – he's often the star of Patsy's social media posts.

Whitney, Liam, Morgan and Tiffany? No, hang on...

SEEING DOUBLE!

Opposites attract, don't they... or do they? Two gorgeous soapies set out to prove the latter. Lucy Fallon (Corrie's Bethany) and her beau of two years, Tom Leech, are slowly morphing into each other; they were snapped in their matching all-black ensembles at Rosso Restaurant & Bar in Manchester. Meanwhile Sophie Porley (Hollyoaks' Ellie) and her boyfriend Jonny Alderton may make you do a double take with this pic – they're so in sync that they even have matching hairstyles. Hair's looking at you, kids!

The Dingles are all about family – and that goes outside of the Dales, too. Swapping the countryside for the city, Emmerdale's Eden Taylor-Draper (Belle) and her screen relative Emma Atkins (Charity) enjoyed a trip across the ocean together to New York. As the starry duo shopped and took in the sights, they took the time to squeeze in a few selfies – and even bumped into their former co-star Sophie Powles (Holly Barton). What a small world!

THE BUTTON

No sooner have we picked a winner for The Voice UK than it's time for the nation's most diverse talent contest to begin again. Acts of all ages and disciplines are putting their talents on show for Alesha Dixon, David Walliams, Amanda Holden and Simon Cowell – but which of them is worthy of a Royal audience? Let's hear from the judges to learn what they're after...

BRITAIN'S GOT TALENT | ITV SATURDAY

GENERATING A

WHICH ACTS WILL HAVE ALESHA, DAVID, AMANDA AND SIMON

ALESHA DIXON

"Every year I look forward to seeing a new crop of talent," enthuses Alesha. "I look forward to seeing something I've never seen before, which I know is a huge challenge. But it is possible and we always get new, surprising acts. Each year I'm always pleasantly surprised that we never run out of talent."

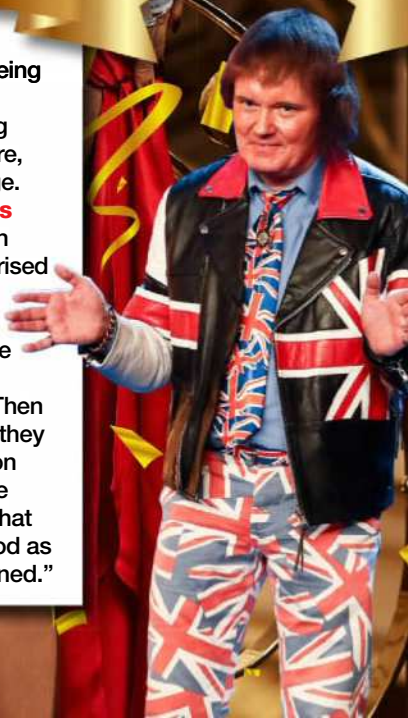

"We are spoilt in the dance category this year: there are quite a few that I was pretty close to pushing my golden buzzer for. Then out came Diversity Juniors and they knocked it out of the park. Simon said they weren't as good as the original Diversity, but I'd argue that the talent in that group is as good as Diversity when they first auditioned."

DAVID WALLIAMS

David is returning to the talent show after picking up his second TV Judge award at this year's National Television Awards.

"Simon is very competitive, so it was nice to beat him!" he says. "Anything that makes him unhappy, makes me happy!"

"It's been fun this year, with loads of brilliant talent. There have been lots of eccentric people, lots of proper variety, brilliant magicians and comedians. One year we might have one or two great magicians, but it feels as if we've got about 10 this year, and the same with comedians. It's going to be interesting."

BUZZ

REACHING FOR THE BUZZERS THIS YEAR?

AMANDA HOLDEN

"I'm always pleased to be back, and extremely grateful," shares Amanda, the show's longest-serving judge. "When you get a phone call to tie you into a show like this, you think five years is good – so to be here with my Zimmer frame 12 years later is an amazing feeling for me!"

"The audition tour has almost been too good. We said yes to so much stuff, it's been incredible. I went on holiday with my family afterwards and I said to Chris [Hughes, Amanda's husband] how phenomenal it's been, and he reminded me that actually, the bits of Britain's Got Talent that you never forget are the unusual acts. It's the off-the-wall, out-of-the-box stuff that shapes our show."

SIMON COWELL

"You want to be surprised, and you don't want a bad version of what you've seen before," reveals the head honcho. "That, for me, is the most important thing – the surprise aspect. Going back to Paul Potts and Susan Boyle, I just didn't expect them to be that good – and they were amazing. That's what this show is about."

"I don't like jinxing it, because every single time on a show such as this you ask what the talent is like and they say, 'We've got the best talent in the world' – but they didn't! We have some real potential this year, I will say that."

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

BEN SHEPHARD, ROCHELLE HUMES AND CHRIS KAMARA ARE PRACTISING THEIR NINJA SKILLS...

Britain's most physically challenging obstacle course is back to test the nation's physical endurance! As usual, the whole thing has been souped-up to make it more demanding than ever – but that's not the only change, as this year's competition is open to celebrities as well as civilians. Presenters Ben Shephard, Rochelle Humes and Chris 'Kammy' Kamara gave us the full lowdown.

What's the standard like in this year's competition?

Ben Our competitors are much better prepared than they were, certainly for series one. We're now on series four, and they know what to expect – or they think they know what to expect! So we have to try to raise the bar, because they're certainly the best competitors that we've ever had.

Will we see more returning contestants this year?

Rochelle The people who've competed before feel the most pressure – they feel like they've got something to prove. Some of them are getting hung up on the smallest of things. "Dude, you've done this already!" But come the second time, they want to be as good as the first.

Kick start: the contestants are fighting fit

Kammy There's an added respect from the competitors to the person who's gone the furthest the year before, so that respect means they're under pressure. If they make a mistake, that filters through to the rest of the athletes.

And celebrities are also taking part this year...

Rochelle Every year people ask us if we're going to do a celebrity version, and our view has always been if you want to take part and you're a celebrity, fine – but there's no special treatment. You take part with everyone else!

And your husband Marvin gave it a go, didn't he?

Rochelle We were just saying that next time, Ben or Kammy should walk alongside him, because I was just going,

PURCHASING POWER

TOM KERRIDGE, ALISON SWAN PARENTE AND NISHA KATONA RATE THE TOP ARTISAN FOOD PRODUCERS...

Independent food producers get the opportunity of a big retail break in this new series, which takes over a farm shop in the Yorkshire Dales. These fledgling businesses are trying to impress the customers, as well as chef Tom Kerridge and judges Alison Swan Parente and Nisha Katona – but how will their wares fare?

"It's a real working farm shop, so one of my biggest concerns was 'Is their product going to be able to stand up to everything else on that shelf?'" Tom tells us. "But the produce was outstanding. Some of the products were better than the stuff on the farm shop shelf. I was pleasantly surprised!"

Each episode focuses on a different range of goods, with this week's first instalment

"What are you doing?! Come on! Don't do that!" So I don't think it was very useful.

Ben Marvin had done the Text Santa version, so he had a little insight, and he understands the make-up of the course more than any of the other celebrities. I thought he was very calm this year compared with the first time because he'd prepared. You can't turn up and not take it seriously!

focusing on preserves, pickles and spreads.

"We had a real problem with some categories – we just didn't know what to put through," recalls Alison. "But Tom has got such a wonderful palate, we could always drag him in!"

We'll also get to see how the products are made – often in the participants' very own kitchens...

"What's charming is it's all so achievable," grins Nisha. "I'd come away thinking, 'Right, I'm going to start making my own cordial!' or whatever. I think it will drive people into their kitchens, and towards artisan food."

HUNTER AND THE HUNTED

MELINA KANAKAREDES JOINS THE MEDICAL DRAMA AS A RENOWNED DOCTOR WITH A SHADY SIDE...

Last week's pilot episode of The Resident introduced us to the morally ambiguous world of Chastain Park Memorial Hospital – and this week's instalment opens up that sandbox further by introducing oncologist Dr Lane Hunter, played by CSI: NY's Melina Kanakaredes. Lane's work is widely celebrated, but even she has secrets, as we're about to find out...

"She's deliciously driven and kind of possessive of her patients," Melina tells Inside TV. "She enjoys being able to control situations at all times, including people and power. I think as we learn more about her, we'll discover that she's someone you love to hate!"

Nurse Nic is quick to clock that something's not quite right with Lane and starts digging deeper, but she's making a powerful enemy.

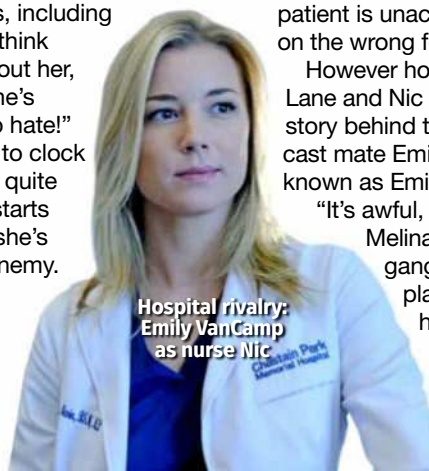

"She's a nurse practitioner and I'm the head oncologist, and basically world-renowned," explains Melina. "Her questioning me in front of a patient is unacceptable, and we get off on the wrong foot straight away."

However hostile things may be between Lane and Nic on screen, it's a very different story behind the camera for Melina and cast mate Emily VanCamp, who's best known as Emily Thorne in Revenge.

"It's awful, because I love Emily!" laughs Melina. "She and I just get along gangbusters, and it's so hard to play someone who can't stand her! But to play the villain in a show is so much fun..."

THE KEITH AND PADDY PICTURE SHOW | ITV 9.25PM

Lights, camera, distraction

Truly no cinematic classic is safe, as Keith Lemon and Paddy McGuinness return for a second series of love letters to iconic movies – walking a fine line between affection for the source material and irreverence. In this series, they'll be giving us their unique takes on Pretty Woman, Jurassic Park, Flashdance and Terminator 2, but first of all they're getting all Greased up.

"Stacey Solomon is Frenchy – she really looks like her!" enthuses Keith. "Emma Willis is Rizzo – she's ace too. With me hanging around with the ladies all day and Paddy with the T-Birds, I sometimes felt like I was hanging around with the wrong gang. I was with Emma, Stacey, Fearnie Cotton and Emily Atack – it was like being on Loose Women."

Keep your eyes peeled for loads more guest stars across the series including Louise Redknapp, Sarah Parish, Philip Glenister and Shaun Ryder...

HARRY HILL'S ALIEN FUN CAPSULE | ITV 7.30PM

Regional variations

The first series of Harry's panel show involved him and his celebrity guests attempting to find the strangest and funniest things on Earth, in order to convince aliens to spare us from invasion (we'd say it makes sense in context, but... it's Harry Hill, so it doesn't really make sense, nor does it need to). It was an underappreciated gem, and we're hoping that moving to Saturday nights gives it the larger audience it deserves. Harry's treats in store for this series include Lord Robert Winston doing his Bobby Ball impersonation, a game of Human Tetris, and Sally from Corrie's tiny hand.

SALAMANDER: BLOOD DIAMONDS | BBC4 9PM

Well, here's a show we'd almost forgotten: Belgian drama Salamander originally aired on BBC4 back in 2014 – a fun crime thriller that got sillier as it went along. Let's hope the long-awaited second series manages not to go off the rails as much. Inspector Paul Gerardi investigates the death of a political refugee, uncovering links to a blood diamond network in the process...

BLUE BLOODS | Sky Atlantic 9PM

Duty trumps all in tonight's episode after Anthony is shot while interviewing a witness, and Danny – who isn't exactly his biggest fan – is determined to find out who's responsible. Meanwhile, Nicky is preparing to take the police exam.

JONATHAN CREEK | Alibi 10PM

Jonathan investigates one of his idols in this first-series mystery. A teenage girl disappears after entering the house of retired rocker Roy Pilgrim. However, Roy has no memory of her ever being there – but is he telling the truth?

BRITAIN'S BIGGEST WARSHIP | BBC2 8PM

Everything's shipshape

HMS Queen Elizabeth is – as you've probably already worked out from the title of this three-part series – the biggest warship ever built in Britain. She's the Royal Navy's newest and most state-of-the-art aircraft carrier, and expected to be in service for 50 years – but before she can be put to work, she must undergo a series of trials to ensure she's ready.

This documentary follows the ship and her 700-strong crew through the final stages of construction and those crucial early seafaring days. It begins in 2016, at Rosyth dockyard in Fife, as Captain Jerry Kyd and his sailors are preparing to take the HMS Queen Elizabeth out – no easy feat, as there's only a 30cm clearance either side of the dockyard sea gate. Eep.

Hidden gems

THE CRYSTAL MAZE | Channel 4 8PM

Richard Ayoade is back, and so is his trusty hand-on-a-stick, as more groups of civilians prepare themselves for the many mysteries of the Crystal Maze. First to answer the call are the Hauxwell siblings from Essex, who alarm Richard greatly on their first meeting by “speak[ing] as one beast”. Team captain Ryan admits that his sisters have forced him to do the first game himself – but he's faced with an ALIS (an Automatic Lock-In Situation, in case you've forgotten), so will he emerge to continue leading his team?

HAWAII FIVE-O | Sky One 9PM

The team look into the death of a private investigator who met a gruesome fate tonight, and Steve reasons that the way to find out who offed him is by researching his recent cases. One stands out in particular: a missing persons investigation where the target might not have wanted to be found. Meanwhile, Danny's uncle Vito offers Steve and Danny some help with their restaurant plans, but he's from the 'Gordon Ramsay school' of mentoring...

THE HEART GUY | Drama 8PM

Hugh's baptism of fire into his new working life continues when a young patient of his dies in the wake of a farming accident. In a bid to give back to the community, Hugh finds an unorthodox way of raising funds for a new MRI machine.

MARVEL'S AGENTS OF SHIELD | E4 9PM

As Coulson and his cohorts fight to save Earth from certain doom, they discover that someone from the history of SHIELD might be the unlikely solution they need. Meanwhile, Kasius twists the knife for the occupants of the Lighthouse.

Market forces

What any up-and-coming inventor wants most of all is a chance to meet with influential retail buyers who can get their product into stores. Handily enough, that's on offer in this new series – with one small catch. Before they can pitch to the panel of influential buyers, they have to convince at least one real shopper to part with their hard-earned cash.

"This is their foot in the door," explains host Brian Conley. "It's so important for them to get the chance to be seen by huge online shopping sites – 'division one' people that could change their life."

Each inventor has just 90 seconds to make their pitch – and that time limit is very strictly observed.

"We don't stop if the product doesn't work," admits Brian. "We had one guy who had a little squeaky ball that you could stick to the top of your cellphone. You'd press it and it would get the dog's attention, so you could take animal selfies – but this dog did not look at him once! He was squeaking away and the audience were in hysterics, and the dog did not want to know. I felt so sorry for him."

The audience members have agreed to pay up if they like the product – and Brian assures us that they're very discerning.

"It's not a game – it's not like 'Oh, in principle, I'll buy it,'" he says. "No, if you want it, buy it. In some shows they were quite conservative, but we had some where 50 per cent or more said 'I want this'. That makes a retailer realise that a lot of people want it, so that reflects in how many they will buy."

DARA O BRIAIN'S GO 8 BIT | Dave 10PM

Corrie's Simon Gregson (Steve) and comedian Jayde Adams are in the high-score hot seats for this series finale, and there's a stone-cold gaming classic first on the agenda: Super Mario Bros.

Simon's at a disadvantage since his playing partner Sam Pamphilon claims (inexplicably) to have never played it before, so will their hopes of victory be nothing more than a pipe dream?

SUPERGIRL | Sky One 8PM

Kara makes a breakthrough in her battle against the Worldkillers tonight, after learning one of her foes' key weaknesses. Meanwhile, as J'onn and Mon-El are repairing the Legion ship, Mon-El has a confession to make.

THE WALKING DEAD | Fox 9PM

The zombie drama wraps up its eighth season, bringing the 'All Out War' story to a close. Andrew Lincoln (Rick) has hinted that we can expect this finale to feel "epic", and that it will feature a major showdown between Rick and Negan.

STEPHEN: THE MURDER THAT CHANGED A NATION | BBC1 9PM

The story of Stephen

It's not often a documentary lands a major primetime slot across three consecutive nights, but that gives you some indication of the importance of the story being told here. It delves into Britain's most high-profile racially motivated murder: the stabbing of black teenager Stephen Lawrence by six white youths in an unprovoked attack, the problems in the police investigation that allowed the killers to walk free, and the subsequent campaign by Stephen's parents Doreen and Neville Lawrence to get justice.

Tonight's opening episode focuses on the run-up to the attack, and the concerns of Doreen and Neville in the aftermath when the police aren't making any arrests.

THE YORKSHIRE VET | Channel 5 8PM

We're heading back to Skeldale Veterinary Centre in Thirsk tonight, for a new eight-part series capturing the daily duties of the local vets. Julian Norton gets called out to Suzanne and her beloved trekking llama Gus, who's in severe pain – and Suzanne is worried that there might not be anything that Julian can do for Gus this time.

Peter Wright, meanwhile, pays a visit to long-term clients Steve and Jean Green, whose farm has played host to many stray animals over the years. Steve and Jean's lurcher Ruben is feeling under the weather, and they're hoping that Peter will be able to find the answer.

LEGION | Fox 9PM

The first season of Legion was like no superhero drama before. In fact, it was like nothing on telly before, and while it was occasionally confusing, it was a gripping and rewarding watch. It all ended with superpowered David Haller (a spellbindingly good Dan Stevens) being transported away by a mysterious orb, while the Shadow King found a new host inside Dr Oliver Bird. Let's hope season two keeps the colourful, offbeat charm.

SUPERNATURAL | E4 10PM

The Winchester brothers are back, and they face another big problem – specifically Jack, the son of Lucifer. And there's still the unresolved question of what happened to their mother Mary since she disappeared into the alternate world.

HOW TO GET AWAY WITH MURDER | Sky Living 10PM

Tonight's finale is called 'Nobody Else Is Dying', which seems a rather optimistic viewpoint on HTGAWM. Michaela makes a move to protect her friends, and it turns out one of the major players has been hiding a big secret...

The show mustn't go on

Joyce is on the warpath after Sammy Valentino's disastrous turn at Neptune's – and Monty and Sam are in the firing line. "Our guests come to Neptune's for family entertainment," she seethes. "And what did you give them? Norman Bates in a sparkly jacket performing live vivisection on a puppet!"

Unsurprisingly, Monty's spell as the Solana's entertainments manager has come to an abrupt end, but there's unfinished business in the form of Sammy's continuing contract. It may be written on the back of a café menu, but it does guarantee him two live shows a week for the next 12 months.

Elsewhere in the resort, Noreen takes advantage of Pauline's rare sobriety to make her realise how disastrous her erotic novel actually is, and the news of Rob and Cyd's engagement prompts Billy and Sheron to recall the early days of their own relationship.

DON'T Miss!

The mating game

THE SECRET LIFE OF THE ZOO | Channel 4 8PM

One thing we love about this series is just how life at the zoo and life in a soap aren't really so different, and tonight's opening episode demonstrates that perfectly: vampire crabs Janet and John aren't mating, so the zookeepers (or producers) add Claude, a larger male, into the mix to increase the odds of Janet getting pregnant. You see? Take out the words 'vampire crabs' and we could just as easily be talking about Emmerdale. And the drama continues: there's a new couple arriving – meerkats Beagle and Huskie – but they don't get along with their aardvark neighbours...

OCCUPIED | Sky Atlantic 9PM

The Norwegian drama set in the aftermath of a Russian invasion of Norway to seize its valuable oil resources (and based on an original idea by best-selling novelist Jo Nesbø) returns for a second series of hostile international relations tonight. It's safe to say that the tension shows no sign of thawing, as series two begins with a clash between the Norwegian Coast Guard and a Russian security company – with neither side willing to back down.

STATION 19 | Sky Living 10PM

The Grey's Anatomy universe expands with this new drama from the same team, set in a Seattle fire station. There's even a familiar face to ease us in: former Grey Sloan surgeon Ben Warren, now starting a new career as a firefighter...

TAKEN | 5USA 9PM

The spin-off series inspired by the movie trilogy concludes its first season, as Mills and John head to Texas in search of Mejia. Mejia's one step ahead, and bundles Asha through a tunnel to Mexico, leaving Mills with no option but to follow.

999: WHAT'S YOUR EMERGENCY? | Channel 4 9PM

Mum's the word

Channel 4's rapid-response documentary returns for a new series tonight – and opens with an interesting but unsettling theme: crimes that involve the relationships between mothers and their sons.

The first call comes from Daniell, whose 15-year-old son Kendall is in the process of smashing up her house and attempting to assault her friend, while Daniell calls the emergency services. Kendall is arrested, but PC Joe Tompkinson is keen to handle the matter sensitively once they get back to the station. "Half the population think we go a bit heavy-handed with these kids sometimes," muses Joe. "And you've got the other half that think we're far too lenient. It's a tough balance to strike."

Also featured in tonight's episode is Shane, who is well known to the police – having been arrested more than 60 times in the past. He's just got out of prison, but he's already worn out his welcome with his mother.

Better breast forgotten

NOT GOING OUT | BBC1 8.30PM

Lucy's clothes shopping trip in search of a little pick-me-up backfires when a salesperson's comments leave her feeling insecure about her breasts. Discussing the incident with Anna afterwards, Lucy finds out that her friend has had a boob job and feels much better about her body as a result – making Lucy think about getting one too. "When I was in my 20s, I once went out in a bikini top and a man crashed into a viaduct," she tells Lee. "Now the only way my boobs would cause a car crash is if I got one caught under the brake pedal." But Lee's not so keen on the idea...

THE ALIENIST | Netflix

Don't be misled by the title, this is not another sci-fi show. It's set in 1896, when those with mental illnesses were considered 'alienated' from their true selves – hence those who treated them were

'alienists'. The series follows Dr Laszlo Kreizler (Daniel Brühl) and illustrator John Moore (Luke Evans) as they investigate the murders of boy prostitutes in New York City, under the orders of Teddy Roosevelt – five years before he'd be President...

THE GOOD FIGHT | More4 9PM

Adrian becomes a viral sensation tonight after his appearance on a cable news show attracts attention – but is all publicity good publicity? Meanwhile, Lucca's pregnancy prompts her to consider what her future with the firm will be.

BILLIONS | Sky Atlantic 9PM

Axe dabbles with venture philanthropy tonight – we looked it up, and apparently it's an attempt to blend the spirit of venture capital financing with more holistic, socially responsible goals. We'll see how long that lasts...

THE BUTTON | BBC1 8.30PM

DON'T Miss!

Family face-off

This new series from the makers of Taskmaster offers up all the fun of a shiny-floor studio game show – without the need for the actual studio. Instead, The Button (voiced by Alex Horne) arrives in the living rooms of five UK families, and it will set them five challenges over the course of a day – each one happening simultaneously in every family's house. They have to be on standby for the button changing from green to red, which is their warning that a challenge is about to appear.

Like Taskmaster, The Button loves setting simple-seeming challenges that turn out to be surprisingly complicated, and for encouraging lateral thinking. It also allows you to nose around other people's homes. Truly something for everyone.

DON'T Miss!

NASHVILLE | Sky Living 9PM

We'd really like to gather up every single character in Nashville and lecture them about their awful life choices. Let's round up: Will is still on steroids. Juliette is still in the clutches of the Church Of Definitely Not Being A Sinister Cult, Honest. Gunnar is falling hard for a woman who's probably not that into him – again. Daphne wants to enter a reality show run by Evil Brad Maitland. We really miss Rayna, y'all. She wouldn't stand for this nonsense.

MODERN FAMILY | Sky One 8.30PM

When Haley introduces her astrophysicist boyfriend to the family, Phil and Claire bicker over which of them is the more intelligent. (Is there a 'none of the above' option?) Elsewhere, Cam is distracted while he and Mitch are on a yoga retreat.

BULL | Fox 10PM

A notorious drug dealer who's evaded court multiple times by feigning schizophrenia is under arrest again – and this time Bull's been called in to prove she's competent to stand trial. Meanwhile, the TAC reluctantly looks for Cable's replacement.

IN and OUT

We spin soap's revolving door...

IAN BARTHOLOMEW

IN (Geoff Metcalfe, Coronation Street)

House-proud Sally will have another guest to entertain, as her father-in-law Geoff (played by theatre actor and TV star Ian Bartholomew) will become a regular fixture on the cobbles. We've already seen Tim's father catch the attention of Audrey – so while Geoff makes a home for himself on the Street, could romance blossom between the hospital radio DJ and the hairdresser? May

BELINDA GIBLIN

(Martha Stewart, Home and Away)

IN Roo's whole world fell in on itself when she discovered that her mum, Martha Snr, was still alive... and it won't be long before she meets her again! Renowned Australian actress Belinda Giblin will take on the role – but what will Alf make of his ex-wife's return after all this time? Later this year

JAKE WOOD

(Max Branning, EastEnders)

IN He took off following Abi's funeral – but Max is coming back to Albert Square sooner rather than later. Has he turned over a new leaf? Or is the fella just as troubled? Spring

MATT KENNARD

(Theo, Hollyoaks)

IN Actor Matt is probably best known for having two years under his belt as nurse Archie Hallam in Doctors, but he's returning to our TVs in a mysterious new role. "I'm used to the hectic filming schedule of soaps, and Hollyoaks is certainly no different," he laughs. "And getting to play a narcissist with an eye for the ladies is always a pleasure for me." This week

THE EX FILES!

What are the one-time stars of soap up to now?

SISTER OF NO MERCY

A recent reunion picture on social media shows that former Walford star Samantha Womack (Ronnie Mitchell) is still the best of mates with her on-screen sister Rita Simons (who played Roxy). But Sam has revealed that she isn't in a forgiving mood for the axing of them both from EastEnders... "It was short-sighted," she says. "The Mitchell family are such a huge part of that show's culture – Peggy had gone and then the two Mitchell sisters. It's a shame to rip out the roots of such a long-serving family." However, she does admit she's enjoyed her life since departing Albert Square. "The last year and a half has been so exciting and a bit like a rebirth, but I hate the idea that I can't go back – unless I come back as some weird Australian twin sister!"

THE SILENT HIT

As well as winning an Oscar, ex-Hollyoaks star Rachel Shenton's film The Silent Child was also a ratings hit when it screened on BBC1 on Good Friday – bringing in 3.6 million viewers. If you missed it, catch it on BBC iPlayer.

BABY LOVE FOR LISA

Ex-Emmerdale star Lisa Riley has revealed she plans to try for a baby via IVF. "I'm in love [with her boyfriend] and we would like to have a baby if we can," she says. "I want IVF, but I won't put myself through stress if it doesn't work."

BOOK

THE WILDFLOWERS

by Harriet Evans
Tony and Althea gave Cordelia a golden childhood – though when they took in abandoned Mads, everything changed. Tony related with Mads as he too was abandoned, and his past would soon catch up with him.

STAR CHOICE

Emmerdale's Shaun Thomas (Gerry)

"I don't have a favourite movie as I like all types of genres. However, I watched Get Out recently and it's really good. It's such a smart film, and Daniel Kaluuya who played the lead character won a Rising Star award at this year's BAFTAs, which was well deserved."

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

Given the option of spending 700 hours holed up in a hut playing chess with a random neighbour, or spending five minutes in the company of his actual daughter, we totally get why Ted prefers Bernadette. That Judith? Worra cow!

Corrie's prize haddock gave us a good laugh this week. And Chesney was funny, too.

Our hearts went out to Hollyoaks' Alfie as he began to hear voices in his head. And we reckon Richard Linnell is a real star of the future.

Has it really been a whole year since lovely Ashley passed away? It still feels like yesterday.

As if this winter hasn't gone on long enough, those filmed -six-week-in-advance soaps went and sent a right chill through our living rooms. AGAIN! Cheers.

There was no contest for our bullseye this week. Drunk Sharon had us howling at every insult and snarky comment she unapologetically launched in Mel's direction – and that was before Walford's princess had five Friesians' worth of cream slung over her. Tish Dean looked as if she was having a ball doing the scenes. And don't be embarrassed, Shaz – your old mum Ange would have been proud!

The sight of Martin fondling Kat's knickers gave us a saucy idea for a future plot line... Just imagine the face on Stace!

David sneakily giving Gary's name at the sexual health clinic gave us hope that his former self is in there somewhere. Don't let Josh win, lad!

The Big Reveal Of The Week goes to fake marine biologist Jude in his shark hat at the aquarium. Goes a little way to explaining why he's so flamin' wet, we suppose.

Bernice's hair is amazing! With that amount of natural body and shine, she could give L'Oréal cover star Cheryl Cole a run for her money.

As Phelan neatly stitched up his leg, we couldn't help but wonder: if he'd pursued a sewing career over cement mixing, would he still be in this mess? (Probably!)

As for Eileen, at least one good thing came out of her wrongful arrest. She got to sit next to the sex god that is Imran for the best part of 36 hours. You'd do the crime just for his time!

In the absence of toxic Lawrence and Chrissie, Lachlan was actually starting to pass for a half-decent human being – until he convinced Rebecca that she'd caused the crash that killed her family. The little weasel deserves everything he gets now!
